

INTERNAL REVENUE.

Commissioner Evans' Report of the Last Year's Work—The Present Condition and Needs of the Service.
Walter Evans, commissioner of internal revenue, has made his report of the transactions of his bureau for the year ending June 30, 1883. The annual saving to the government, by the consolidation of 123 collection districts into eighty-three, is estimated at $185,000. The aggregate amount of the reduction of internal revenue made by the act of March 3, 1883, is estimated at $43,000,000 per annum, including $20,000,000 for the capital and deposits of national banks, paid directly to the treasurer of the United States. While this is so, it is also estimated that the increased revenue from distilled spirits for the current year will so augment receipts from that source as to make the aggregate receipts for this year at least $120,000,000, should there be no further change in the internal revenue laws.

The total receipts from all sources of internal revenue taxation for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, were $144,553,344.86, as compared with $145,225,273.72 for the year 1882, and $135,000,000 for the year 1881. The collections for the first three months of the present fiscal year amount to $39,371,175.51, a decrease of $7,224,491.69 from the aggregate for the corresponding period last year.

The cost of collection for the past fiscal year was $5,113,734.88. The total expenses, including the expenses of the internal revenue, will be found, on final adjustment, to be about 3 1/2 per cent. on the amount collected. The commissioner says the condition of the service is excellent; that no extensive frauds are being perpetrated upon the government by those who are required to pay internal revenue taxes, and that evidence accumulates daily that even in those portions of the country where at one period it was not regarded as disreputable to resort to any device to defeat the collection of internal revenue, there is a healthy change of public sentiment, and it is not difficult to secure the conviction of the guilty.

The commissioner calls attention to the great difficulty that is experienced in securing the conviction of persons who have committed offenses against the revenue laws, more than two years before the indictment against them is found, and recommends that congress be requested to enact a statute fixing the limitation for the prosecution of offenses against the revenue laws at a much less period than five years, now provided, except in cases where the accused places himself beyond the jurisdiction of the court of the district where the offense was committed. Nine hundred and twenty-seven violations of law have been reported by revenue agents during the year; 476 persons have been arrested on their information, property to the value of $91,401.15 has been reported by them for seizure and for assessment for unpaid taxes, and penalties amounting to $204,912.15 have been reported by them.

Thirty-seven railway and income cases for collection of back taxes under laws repealed have been examined by agents under special assignment. The amount of taxes received from railway cases during the last fiscal year, which had been examined and reported upon by agents in previous years, is $101,042.07. But few of these cases now remain undisposed of. All the claims against railway corporations, with one exception, are now in suit.

There has been expended from the appropriation for salaries and expenses of revenue agents during the year, as follows:

Agents' salaries	$85,997.60
Agents' expenses	41,892.50
Salaries of clerks	202.07
Salaries of messengers	1,233.55
Total	$127,325.72

The estimated expenses of the internal revenue service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, are:

For salaries and expenses of collection	$1,520,000.00
For salaries and expenses of thirty-five revenue agents, for surveys, for clerks and messengers, and for salaries for storekeepers, and for miscellaneous expenses	2,300,000.00
For the purchase of land, for the purchase of buildings, and for the purchase of machinery and equipment	470,000.00
For the purchase of land, for the purchase of buildings, and for the purchase of machinery and equipment	75,000.00
Total	$4,290,000.00

During the year stamps to the value of $162,057,111.02 were issued.

The collections from tobacco for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, were $42,104,249.79. In this amount are included the collections upon imported manufactured tobacco, snuff, and cigars, in addition to customs duties, the taxes imposed on domestic manufactured tobacco, snuff, and cigars, the special taxes paid by manufacturers of tobacco, snuff, and cigars, the special taxes paid by dealers in leaf and dealers in manufactured tobacco, and it also includes the receipt of money for export stamps sold to exporters of tobacco. The collections from the several sources above named for the last fiscal year are less than those of the fiscal year immediately preceding by the sum of $5,257,789.12.

The total number of grain distilleries registered and operated shows an increase from 1,147 registered in 1882 to 1,353 in 1883. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, 1,259 registered and 1,066 operated in the last fiscal year. This increase in number occurs mainly in the class of distilleries having the smaller capacities for the production of spirits. In the class of distilleries having the larger capacities a very considerable decrease occurs in the number operated. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, 875 of the smaller distilleries were registered, but of this number only 673 were operated, while of the larger distilleries 239 were registered, and 232, or 97 per cent., were operated. During the last fiscal year 960 distilleries of the smaller class, having a daily capacity varying from not exceeding 5 bushels to 100 bushels, and 69 bushels, were registered, and of this number 575, or 60 per cent., were operated. Of the class of larger distilleries varying in daily capacity from 100 bushels to 500 bushels, 100 were registered, and 97, or 97 per cent., were operated. The quantity of grain used in the production of spirits during the past fiscal year (18,944,773 bushels) is less than that in the last preceding year (27,450,000 bushels) by 8,505,227 bushels, and is 6,705,500 bushels less than the average (25,325,333 bushels) for the last four years. This decrease in the use of grain corresponds closely with the decrease in the production of spirits, and explains the decrease in the numbers of distilleries produced during the year, which is 72,335,175 gallons as against 104,140,077 gallons for the year ended June 30, 1882. The yield of spirits from each bushel of grain increases slightly each year, being 3.55 gallons as against 3.72 for the year preceding, and 3.694 for the year 1881. This increase is believed to be due mainly to improved methods of preparing the grain for distillation. The quantity of spirits produced during the production of run during the fiscal year is 2,373,100 gallons, an increase of 251,293 gallons over the quantity used in the preceding year (2,121,804 gallons), and a decrease of 205,715 gallons from the average quantity (2,578,501 gallons) used during the last four years.

The quantity of spirits (74,013,358 gallons) produced and deposited in distillery warehouses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, is less than the production (103,553,161 gallons) of the year 1882 by 29,539,803 gallons, or less than the production of 1881 by 41,714,842 gallons. The decrease in production of the fiscal year 1883, as compared with that of the fiscal year 1882, was 28,301,659 gallons. Nearly seven-tenths of the spirits remaining in warehouse June 30, 1883 (53,841,741 gallons) out of 80,469,953 gallons, was bourbon whiskey. There was a decrease in the quantity in warehouse June 30, 1883, as compared with the quantity in warehouse June 30, 1882, of 9,402,652 gallons. The quantity of spirits, 80,469,953 gallons, actually remaining in warehouse June 30, 1883, is the quantity as shown by the original gauge of each package. The quantity of spirits withdrawn from distillery warehouses for exportation during the year was 5,250,427 gallons. The quantity of distilled spirits in the United States, except what may be in customs bonded warehouses on the first day of October, 1883, was nearly 110,000,000 gallons, this quantity being distributed as follows:

In distillery and special bonded warehouses	73,947,103
In hands of warehousemen and others	10,921,832
In hands of retail liquor dealers	25,130,665
Total	110,000,000

FINISHING THE PERUVIANS.

Expeditions to Wipe Out the Last Vestige of the Old Government—Probable Terms of Peace.

Special Letter.

CALLAO, PERU, Oct. 10.—Early on the morning of the third instant several trains of cars came down from Lima filled with soldiers, cannon, and horses. As soon as they arrived in Callao, the bands began to play, and, forming into line, they all marched down to the mole, where the transports Lila and Amara were waiting for them. They began moving at daylight, and by noon several thousand men with their arms were safely embarked, the embarkation having been personally superintended by Vice Admiral Lynch, Chief of the expedition, and by the Comodoro, Comodoro, and Comodoro. As soon as the transports stood out into the bay and anchored, and how I did long for some one with power who should find them to move unless they went straight to Chile, for they were bound for Arequipa to crush out the last pretense of a Peruvian government and make the whole country seemingly solid for Iglesias. They sailed in the afternoon.

Arequipa is quite a large city, situated on the high plain midway between the port of Mollendo and Lake Titicaca. Lizardo Montero, the last elected vice president of Peru, is there, and a few members of the last elected congress, and they refuse to accept Iglesias. They are, however, a handful of mountaineers, and also there, but his men are ill armed and undisciplined, and cannot, of course, make more than the slightest show of resistance against the Chileans, whom I have heard some parties aver, are 8,000 strong altogether. Yet a slight resistance will insure the destruction of the city, all approachable towns, and the scattering of the people who survive. It seems as if this handful of discontents might be ignored, for Iglesias does not seem anxious to take command here, although some say that his party is gaining strength every day, and that as soon as peace is declared he will resign and order an election; yet his apparent reluctance to leave his native province of Cajamarca, and the varying accounts as to his whereabouts, lead one to lend credence to the tales of those who say that they have seen his army, and that it consists of about 500 bootless and hatless men, who are armed with ramrods, and desert their ranks on the first opportunity.

The item published Saturday in regard to "Eureka" cannot, No. 5, Sons of Jonadab," disbanding should have read "Equity" council, No. 5, Sovereigns of Industry." The Jonadab council is in a flourishing condition. The large doral pyramids facing the east front of the capitol are kept green throughout the winter by the constant watering, and, lately, the steam being supplied from the capitol building. It will probably be turned on this week.

The congregation of the Metropolitan Presbyterian church, Capitol hill, are expecting their large new organ. It was built in New York, and cost $2,500. It will be of beautiful finish, and will doubtless be run by water power machinery.

The regular weekly hop of the National Rides took place in their armory on Saturday night and was largely attended by many of the best representatives of Washington society. Those Saturday night hops having become popular will be a decided feature during the season.
